CLINICAL AROMATHERAPY 101 & 102

This seminar is an in-depth study on clinical Aromatherapy as an alternative therapy. You will gain a working knowledge of essential oils (botanical medicinal grade); producing oils from aromatic plants; and an oil's biochemical specificity. The physiological/psychological effects on body systems as well as the mind will be presented. You will study how to select and blend oils to address a variety of common ailments, pregnancies, infants, children, and the elderly. You will also learn how to custom-blend your own personal formulas for dealing with daily stress and how to create a handy first-aid kit.
